SECTION A: READING

(5 Marks)

1. Read the following passage and answer the questions given below it:

Conversation is indeed the most easily teachable of all arts. All you need to do in order to become a good conversationalist is to find a subject that interests you and your listener. There are, for example, numberless hobbies to talk about. But the important thing is that you must talk about the other person's hobby rather than your own. Therein lies the secret of your popularity. Talk to your friends about the things that interest them and you will get a reputation for good fellowship, charming wit and brilliant mind. There is nothing that pleases people so much as your interest in their interests. A good conversationalist can be effective only if he / she is able to blend humour, wit, topics of good interest, presence of mind, knowledge of various things, logical thinking etc., in fine proportion.

Praise and appreciate people, for nothing pleases a man as mere appreciation and flattery. It is just as important to know what subjects to avoid as what subject to select for good conversation. If you don't want to set down a wet blanket of bore, be careful to avoid certain unpleasant topics. Avoid talking about yourself unless you are asked to do so. Use simple words and let the conversation be lucid. Avoid flowery use of language, jargons etc. Do not beat about the bush or talk boastfully about your own self. Let the talk be exuberant, lively and interesting. People are interested in their own problems, not yours; sickness or death bores everybody. Similarly age-old tales, happenings of the past even though they may be real, will never interest the listeners. The only one who willingly listens to such talk is the doctor, may be sometimes even to nonstop nonsense, because he gets paid for it.
