SECTION A – READING

Q1. Read the passage carefully and answer ANY FOUR of the questions that follow: (1×4=4)

The Internet is the greatest invention of the 20th century, giving users tremendous power and transforming the world we live in. With free access to every kind of information known to mankind, Googling and Facebooking have become commonplace daily activities. Children and teenagers all over the world use the Internet on a regular basis, most often for online games, finding information on topics of interest, or browsing for fun. However, one of the main dangers for children using the Internet is inappropriate access to information and the risk of befriending strangers who may pose a danger to them.

We can help children navigate the online world safely while still benefiting from the tremendous resources and opportunities the Internet offers. It's crucial for parents, educators, and society as a whole to be proactive in promoting digital literacy and online safety to protect our children from potential harm.
